DUONG XUAN TRUONG

My name is Duong Xuan Truong and I have a B.A Degree in English Language and with a second major in Finance and Banking. After working in roles centered around doing English-Vietnamese interpretation and translation and project assistance for many years, I realized that solving problems and understanding computers really does give me joy.

So, I decided to started my re-education with Python and fell in love with its simplistic and readable syntax. I continued to tinker with the language for several months. Then, I stumbled upon the fascinating world of Web Development through the Freecodecamp site. From that point on, I have spent countless hours working with HTML, CSS, Javascript, and React, in hopes that someday my technical know-how will bring value to the world.
